

FUNDING

We get many questions about finding funding for academic therapy, evaluation, private school and/or college for dyslexic students. IDA does not offer scholarships, grants or financial assistance; however you may want to try the following websites:

Information on Financing a Private School Education

<http://www.nais.org/admission/index.cfm?itemnumber=145880&sn.ItemNumber=142477>

LD-Specific Financial Information:

- ✘ Great Schools (Formerly Schwab Learning): <http://www.greatschools.net/cgi-bin/showarticle/2259>
- ✘ FinAid: <http://www.finaid.org/otheraid/ld.phtml>
- ✘ Learning Disabilities Resource Community (Canada): <http://www.ldrc.ca/scholarships.php>

General scholarship searches can be done on the following sites:

- ✘ ASPIRA Association, Inc. (Spanish): <http://www.aspira.org>
- ✘ College Board: <http://www.collegeboard.com>
- ✘ EducationalAtlas.com: <http://www.educationatlas.com/financial-aid.html>
- ✘ Fast Web!: <http://www.fastweb.com>
- ✘ Financial Aid Student Guide: <http://www.finaid.org>
- ✘ United Negro College Fund: <http://www.uncf.org>
- ✘ U.S. Department of Education: <http://www.ed.gov>

You may also want to check with your school's Financial Aid and Scholarships office. That office will know more about private and regional scholarships.

Please remember that IDA does not recommend or endorse any individual, business, school, program or website.

You can always find copies of our other Fact Sheets for parents, adults and educators available for download on our website.

www.interdys.org/FactSheets.htm

---

“promoting literacy through research, education and advocacy”